

Course Description

EE609: Power System Protection

Adaptive and wide-area protection, AI-based protective relaying. Analysis, design, and optimization of protection systems considering renewable energy integration, distributed generation, and smart grid technologies. Advanced fault analysis techniques, power system stability assessment, and the impact of power electronics on protection systems.