Quality Assurance and Accreditation

1.4 Classroom Locations

ELI campus locations are available on the following ELI website page.

Contact us

2 Academic Programs

The annual number of newly-admitted full-time KAU students is usually between 12,000 to 15,000 students. All students must successfully complete the English course requirement in order to begin their course at KAU unless they are exempted.

2.1 The Academic Year

One academic year is two full semesters (two ELI modules each), and one summer session (one ELI module), when offered. One full semester is usually 15 teaching weeks, while the summer session is not usually longer than eight weeks.

2.2 ELI Programs

The ELI has the following programs:

- First Year Program (7 Tracks)
- Distance Education Program (unavailable for new students)
- External Education Program (unavailable for new students)
- MA TESOL Program
- Professional Master's Program in English Language Teaching

An overview of ELI Programs, curriculum outlines, achievement scale, student learning outcomes, and National Center for Academic Accreditation and Evaluation (NCAAA) course specifications are available on the following ELI website page.

ELI Programs (available soon)

2.3 Placement Test

The ELI uses the Cambridge English Placement Test to put you in the correct English level. Details of the Cambridge English Placement Test are available on the following ELI website page:

Placement Test (available soon)

2.4 Maintenance Week

During the first week of the first semester, we have a "maintenance week." This week follows your placement test and helps us make sure you are in the right level for your English classes.

Here's what happens during maintenance week:

Evaluation: Your instructors will watch your class participation, review your classwork, and observe your language skills. This helps them check if you're at the right level.

Reporting Issues: If your performance in speaking, writing, listening, or reading seems different from your classmates, your instructor will report this to the Head of Academic Affairs Unit (AAU).

Adjustment: Instructors might suggest moving you to a higher or lower level based on what they observe. This needs approval from the administration.

Student Complaints: If you think you're in the wrong level, you can file a complaint at the Regular Student Academic Affairs Unit. Your placement test score will be rechecked.

If there's a Discrepancy: The Deanship of Admission and Registration will get involved to correct your level officially.

If There's No Discrepancy: If you still believe you're misplaced, you can retake the placement test. If your new test results show a different level, The Deanship of Admission and Registration will send you an official notice with your new level. You will receive a message with the change.

2.5 Student score validation

ELI ensures reliable and accurate language standards, levels and materials by correlating ELI levels to the The Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR) and by working with English teaching agencies and authorities. Language proficiency levels of ELI FYP students are validated using an external Proficiency Test.

2.6 Student Learning Outcomes (SLOs)

SLOs are written in terms of observable and measurable language skills. The current curricula for ELIA, ELIS, ELIE, ELCA, ELIG and ELIC tracks include course goals, course objectives, SLOs, pacing guides and syllabi.

Each ELI level has an overarching course goal supported by course objectives, which are supported by the level's SLOs. There are listening, reading, speaking and writing SLOs. All SLOs are compiled with close reference to course materials.

Course learning outcomes can be viewed on the following NCAAA Course Specification documents on the First Year English Language Program page of the ELI Website (available soon).

2.7 First Year Program

Your academic performance during the First Year determines the university college you can go to after you graduate from the ELI. All KAU colleges require you to finish all of your English track levels. In addition, your performance in English affects your overall Grade Point Average (GPA).
